General marketing objectives and plans (Five years)

General marketing objectives and plans

Short-term goals (0-1 year)

VividEdge will focus on a social media marketing strategy to increase the total number of followers on the four main platforms of the target social media (Instagram, TikTok, YouTube, Facebook) combined to 400,000 and increase the number of monthly visits to the website to 100,000 in order to achieve at least 10% market penetration.

Medium-term goals (1-3 years)

Pre-purchase: VividEdge will focus on pre-purchase online advertising, landing page optimisation, and partnerships with third-party websites to increase online visibility and engage prospects.

Purchase: Enhance the customer experience and drive immediate purchases through flash shops, curated events, guerrilla marketing, and physical shop sales.

Goal: Expect to reach a total of 800,000 followers across four major social media outlets, increase website visits to 300,000 per month, and achieve 30% market penetration.

Long-term goals (3-5 years)

Pre-purchase: VividEdge will utilise a wide range of traditional and digital mediums (including PR, radio, TV, print, outdoor and digital billboards) to extend the reach of the brand.

Purchase: Expand offline shops and create a mobile platform, while using artificial intelligence, virtual reality, musical performances and other innovations to enhance customer interaction.

Target: 1.2 million total social media followers, 500,000 monthly visits to the website and APP, and 50% market penetration.

AIDA Model For Social Media Pre-purchase and purchase (One year)

(By author's own, 2024)

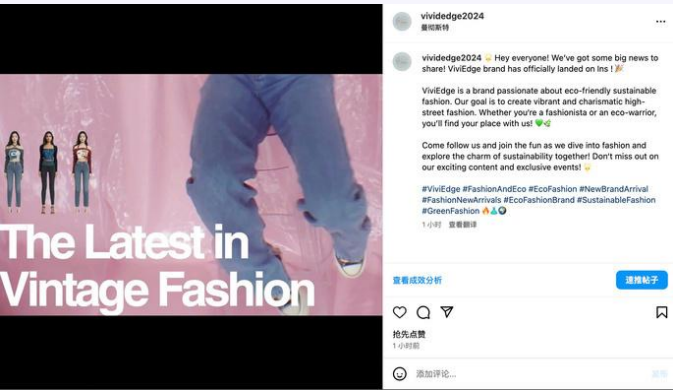

3.1 Before purchase

3.1.1 Neo-tribal marketing

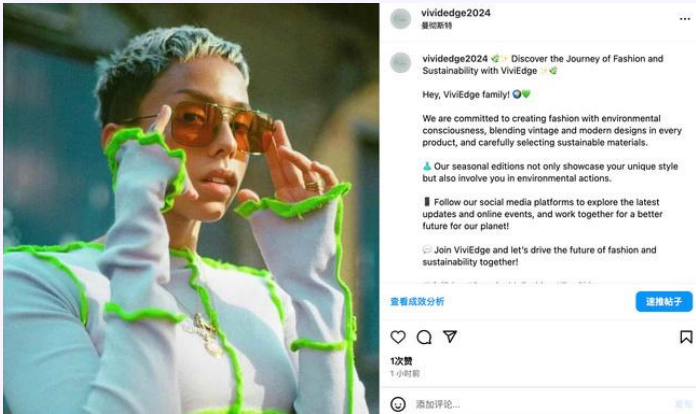

New Tribe Marketing can help VividEdge to build a unique brand image in the marketplace and create shared values with consumers to drive brand awareness and loyalty. (Mirosa, 2007) New Tribe Marketing can be approached in the following three parts:

(1) Identity building

VividEdge appeals to consumers who are interested in sustainable lifestyles (and specifically in Upcycling clothes) through the concept of Upcycling and sustainability.

Example (By author’s own)

(2) Sharing Stories

VividEdge regularly shares articles and videos about the company's eco-sustainability, collaborative Upcycling KOLs, customer interviews, etc., including company background stories, eco-sustainability stories, design inspiration stories ,Upcycling clothes KOL stories, customer stories and so on, throuhg social media (Instagram, TikTok, Facebook, YouTube), official Blog and other channels.

Example (By author’s own)

(3) Knowledge Tutorial

VividEdge regularly shares some knowledge articles and videos about Upcycling clothes through social media (Instagram, TikTok, Facebook, YouTube), official website Blog and other channels, including how to design, sustainable raw materials and remake tips.

Example (By author’s own)

3.1.2 Viral Marketing

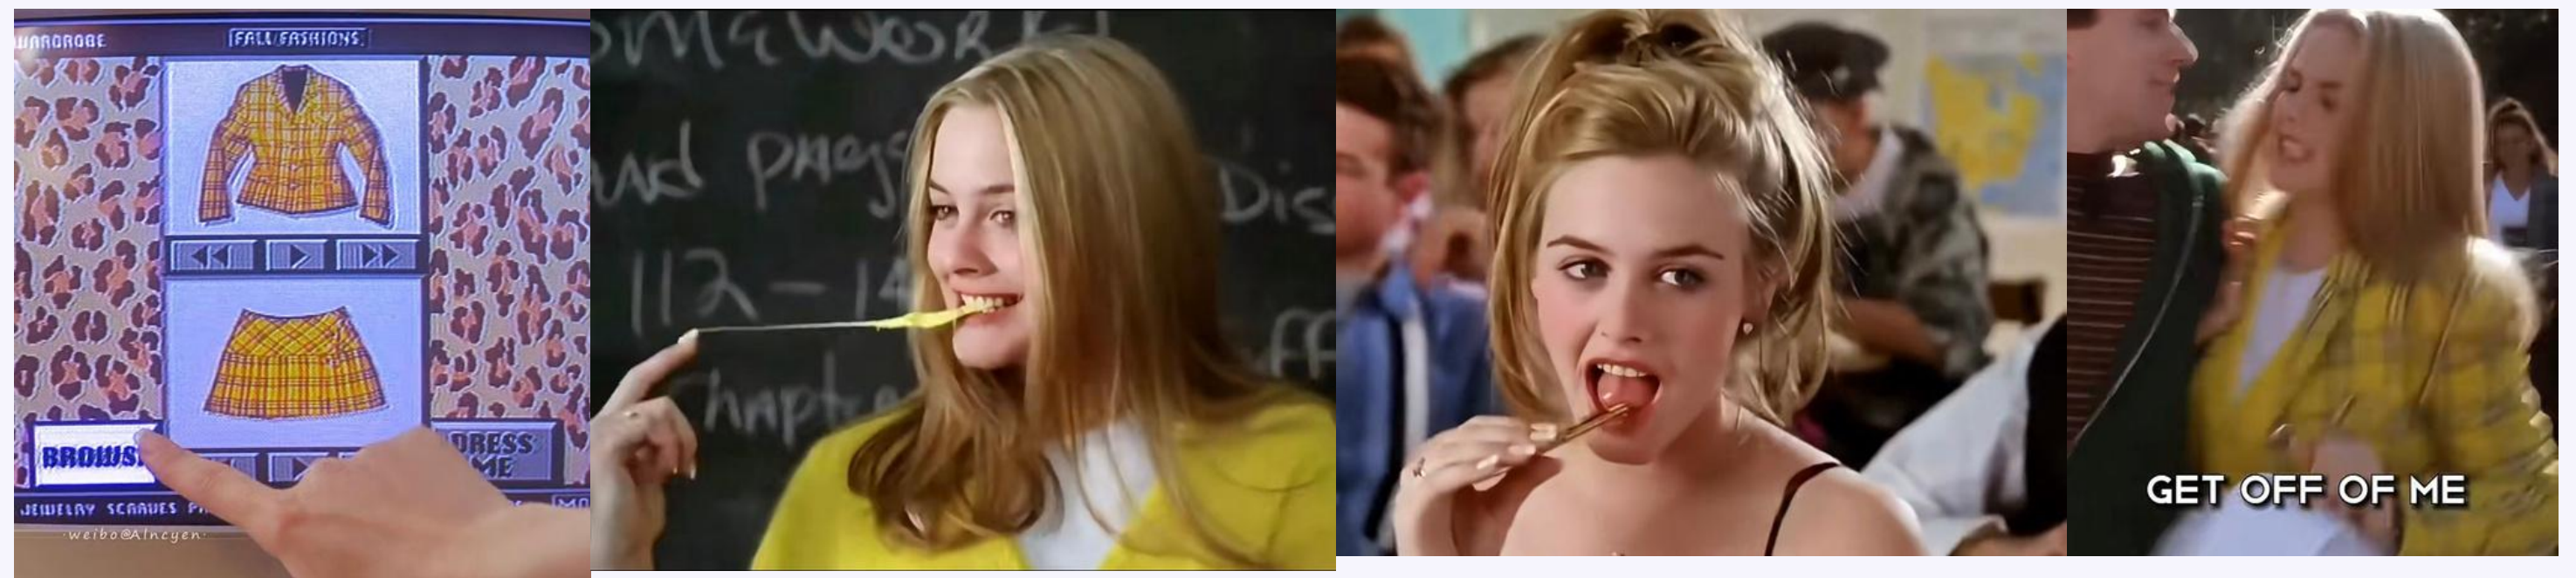

VividEdge, as a start-up brand, has no name recognition, and through viral marketing, social networks and internet users can be utilised to spread the word, allowing the brand to spread quickly like a virus, thus opening up awareness quickly. (Miller and Lammas, 2010).

Programme:

During the release of a new collection, or before a festival, VividEdge can post some cross-dressing videos, gesture dances, funny videos, videos showing famous movie scenes, etc. on social media (Instagram, TikTok, Facebook, YouTube), which triggers viewers to happily like the videos, follow and imitate them, and forward them to their friends and relatives.

Here are some examples of viral marketing by VividEdge over the course of a year:

Parody Movie Famous Scene Video: After the release of the American Vintage Collection, post a video of a person wearing VividEdge's American Vintage clothing, parodying the classic famous scene actions (pen biting, pulling bubblegum) and lines (get off of me) from The One and Only with the film's soundtrack for people to like, parody, and spread the word.

Example of how the video is expected to unfold

New Year's Dance Video:
During the New Year, post a magical New Year's dance video with magical music for people to like, imitate and spread.

Example of how the video is expected to unfold (By author's own)

Retro Rock Video:
Before the release of the Retro Rock series, release a rock video with blasting rock music to promote the new product teaser and people to like and spread the word.

Example of how the video is expected to unfold (By author's own)

Flower cross-dressing video:
After the release of the spring flower limited series, a flower-themed cross-dressing video will be filmed, with different overall effects presented according to different flower themes and styles, and cross-dressing will be carried out for likes, imitations and spreading.

Example of how the video is expected to unfold (By author's own)

3.1.3 Online Experiential marketing

The use of experiential marketing allows consumers to interact with VividEdge through direct experiential activities to deepen their perception and emotional connection to the brand. (Smilansky, 2017) VividEdge can be used in several ways:

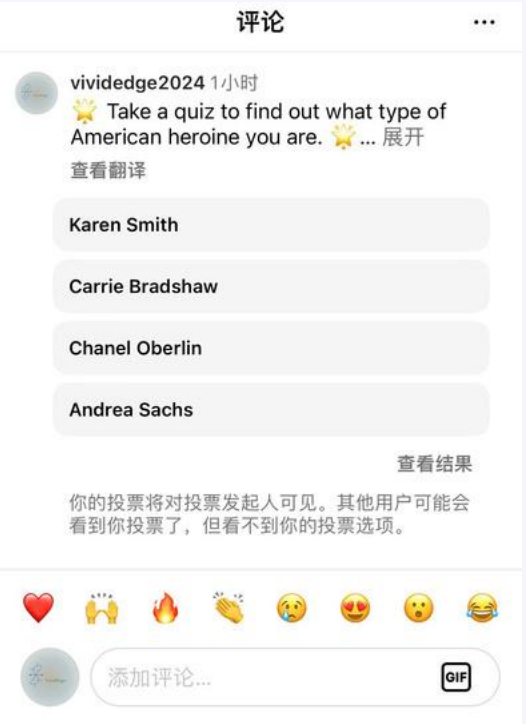

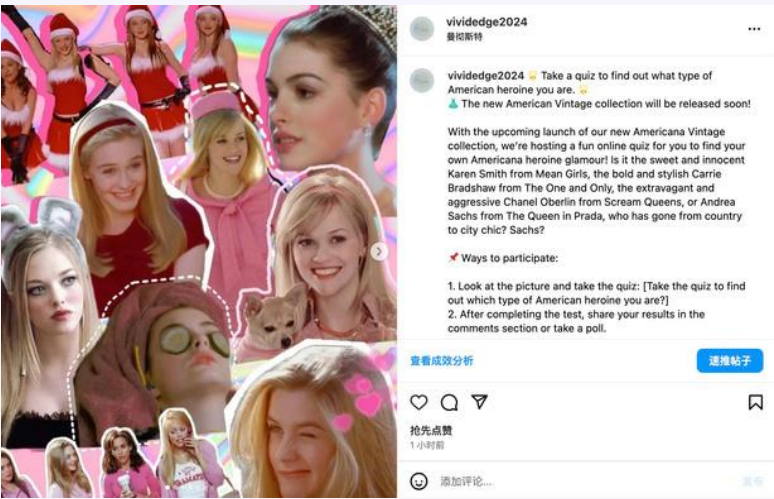

(1) gamification

Easter Egg Hunt Game:
During Easter, conduct an egg hunt, eggs are hidden on the official website and social media posts, and the first person to find them gets the corresponding prizes (rabbit ears headbands, coupons, crochet bunnies). This approach allows people to interact by playing games, driving conversation and increasing brand exposure.

Example (By author's own)

Test what kind of American heroine you are:
Prior to the launch of the new American Vintage collection, launch a "Test Your American Heroine" quiz and preview the next American Vintage collection. A poll was then launched, encouraging people to write their answers in the comments section or vote on the results, thus achieving a promotional effect. The quiz included four characters: Karen Smith from Mean Girls, Carrie Bradshaw from The One, Chanel Oberlin from Scream Queens and Andrea Sachs from The Queen in Prada.

Example of how the it is expected to unfold (By author's own)

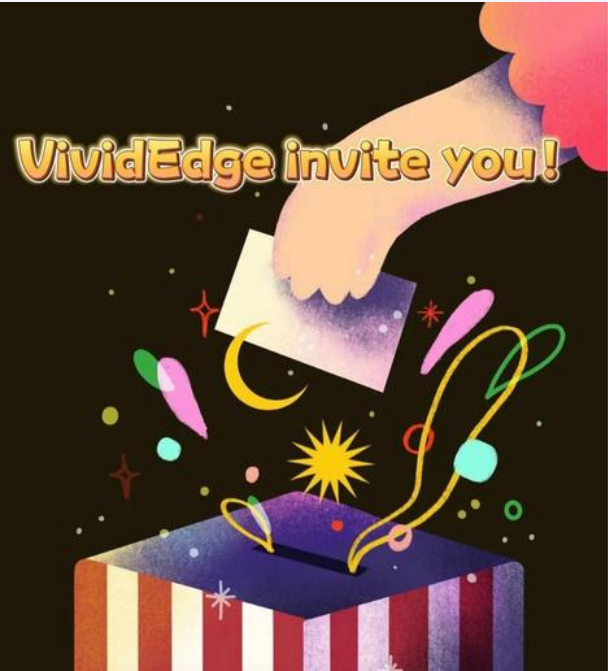

(2) Co-creation

The co-creation of VividEdge as a new brand allows customers to participate in experiencing the process of Upcycling clothes, increasing experience, anticipation and loyalty.

Below are the specific activities that will take place over the course of the year:

The next phase of style voting:
before the vintage French fresh collection, the release of the style series of voting activities, you can vote under the favourite style, the style with , the release of the style series of voting activities, you can vote under the favourite style, the style with the most votes will be the next phase of new products.

Student Story + Design Competition:
Prior to the release of the Retro College Limited Edition Collection, we launched the "Tell Your Youthful Campus Story" + Vintage Campus Design Competition. Everyone can share their most unforgettable memories of their youthful school days and use them as inspiration for their designs. The three entries with the most likes will win, receive prizes, and be used in VividEdge's upcoming releases. This is a great way to get everyone involved and bring up the topic for discussion and increased exposure.

3.1.4 Search Engine Optimisation

(1) Identify keywords:

Identify and select keywords that are relevant to VividEdge's business, especially terms that potential customers might use to search for related products or services, such as "buy vintage clothes", "sustainable fashion buying", etc. Tools such as Google Keyword Planner, Ahrefs, SEMrush, etc. can be used to find keywords with high search volume and relatively low competition.

(2) Keyword Usage:

Website:

Optimise the meta tags (e.g. title, description and keywords), header tags, internal links and alt text of images on each page of the website to improve its visibility in search engines, e.g. "Upcycling clothes".

#Community Picks #Fashion Pioneers

Example of topics on Instagram posting (By author's own)

(3) SEO placement and monitoring:

Use paid SEO placement to optimise a brand's Google business profile, citation backlinks, technical maintenance, etc. in an effort to make the brand's website more attractive to potential customers. (Add people, 2024)

Also use Google Analytics, Google Ads performance reporting tools to track the effectiveness of the ads, including click-through rate, conversion rate, etc., and adjust the strategy and budget according to the performance of the ads and market changes.

3.1.5 Word of mouth

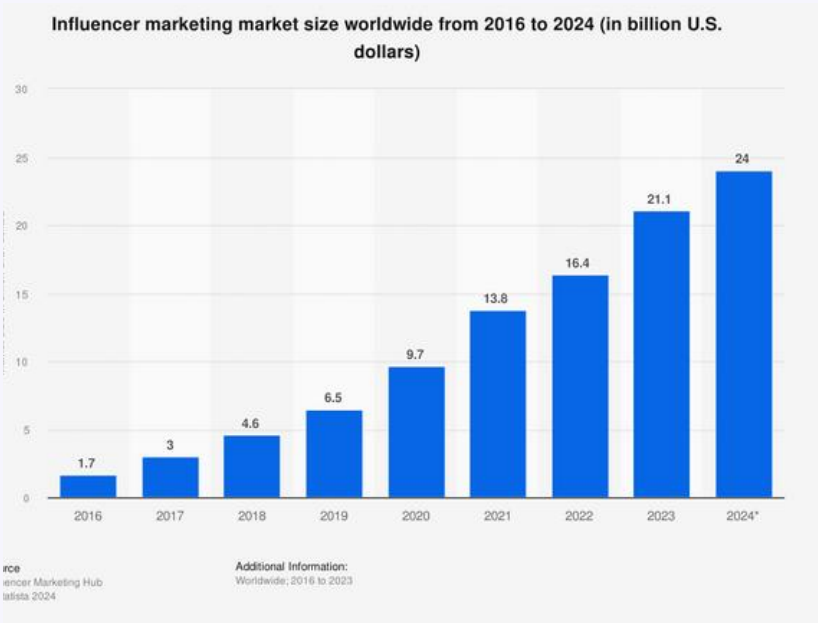

VividEdge, as a small, emerging high street brand, will be viewed with suspicion by consumers when it first enters the market, and its target consumers are extremely sensitive to peer recommendations and reviews. (Lazarević-Moravčević, 2019) And word of mouth marketing is exactly the way to maximise the consumer's psychological concerns about the risk of purchase through professional marketing techniques. (Kozinets et al., 2010) As shown in the figure below, word of mouth occupies the most important part in developing market. (Bughin, Doogan and Vetvik, 2010) So VividEdge can adopt the following strategies:

Word of mouth's importance in developing markets (Bughin, Doogan and Vetvik, 2010)

(1) Cooperation with KOL (Word of mouth)

For VividEdge, partnering with KOLs in the industry is an effective way to increase brand visibility and credibility. As Tobon explains, KOLs' authority status and high attention span among specific groups can significantly expand a brand's reach. (Tobon and García-Madariaga, 2021) And by 2024, the KOL market is estimated to reach a record $24 billion. (Statista, 2024)

Influencer marketing market size worldwide from 2016 to 2024 (in billion U.S. dollars) (Statista, 2024)

Programme:

VividEdge releases a new product collection six times a year, divided into two large quantities of SEASONAL and four small quantities of LIMITED products. For each new collection release, VividEdge collaborates with 6 social media bloggers (3 on Instagram, 2 on TikTok, 1 on YouTube), thus expanding VividEdge's brand awareness.

For example: the American Vintage Collection

(1) Complimentary product free cooperation/paid cooperation posting:

VividEdge mails the products in the newly released American vintage series to KOLs, and recommends them to fans by giving away the products for free cooperation, or paid cooperation in the form of wearing posts or remake analysis videos through their social media platforms with shopping links, brand contact information, and so on.

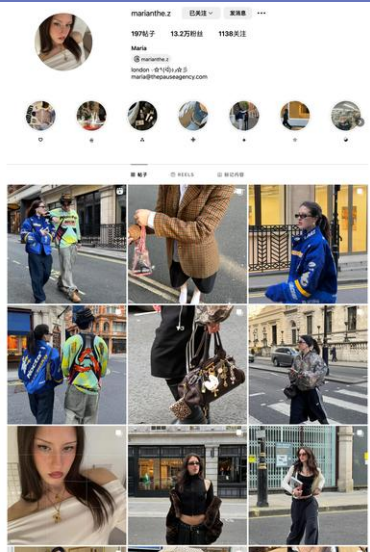

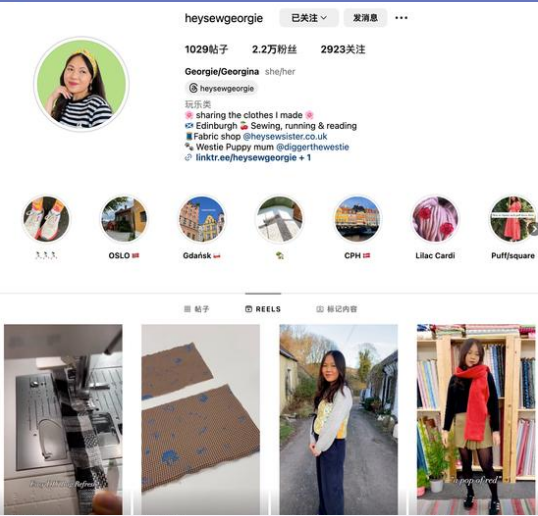

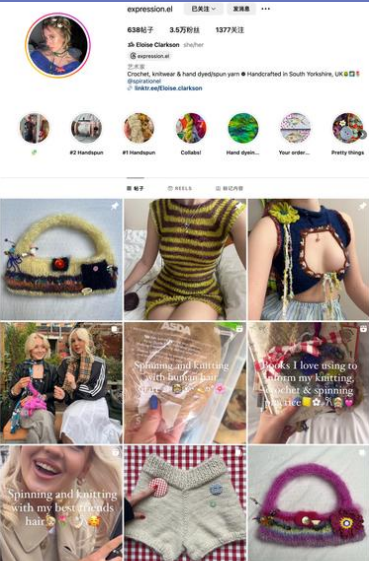

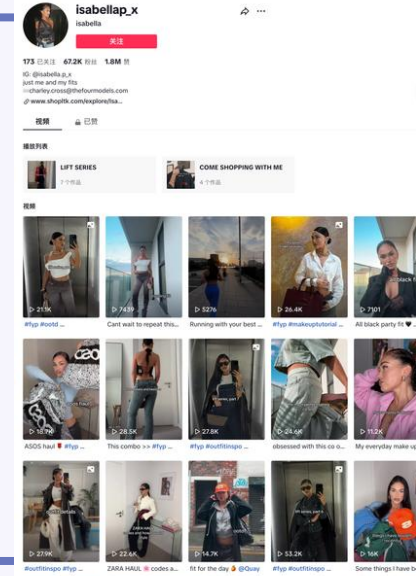

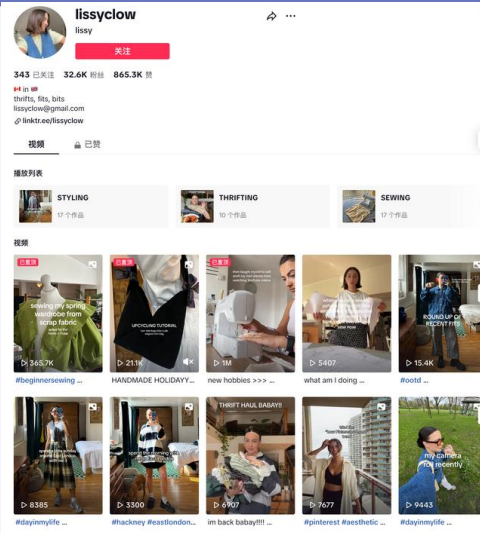

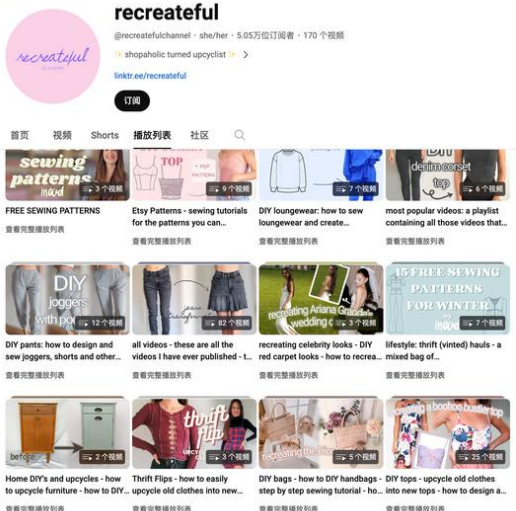

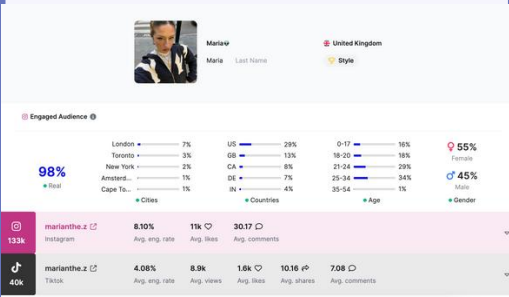

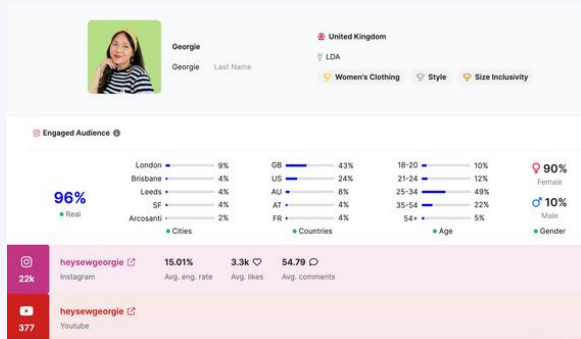

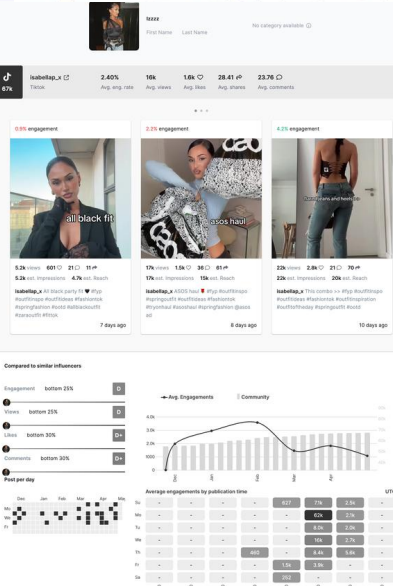

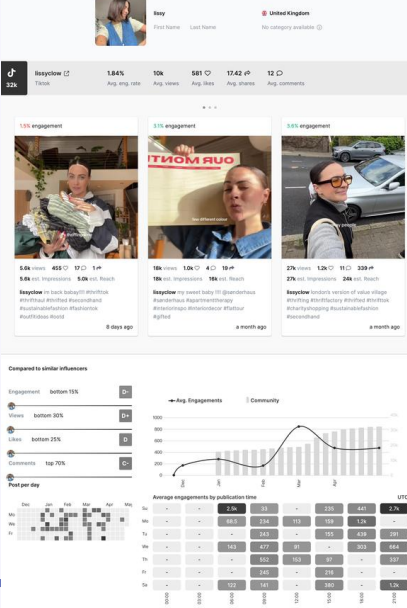

(2) Interactive exposure in the comment section: Brands also make interactive comments under their posts to increase interaction and exposure.

(3) Monitoring data:

Then monitor and analyse the data of fans' activity, interactivity, comment section, likes, views, etc. for the next cooperation improvement and adjustment.

(2) Optimisation of KOC (Word of mouth)

Through the authentic feedback of KOC, the brand is able to spread the brand message naturally within the social circle, effectively expanding the brand's influence and market coverage. (Cheung and Lee, 2012) VividEdge, as a start-up emerging brand, adopts the KOC strategy to enhance consumer trust.

Encourage customers to generate UGC (challenges)

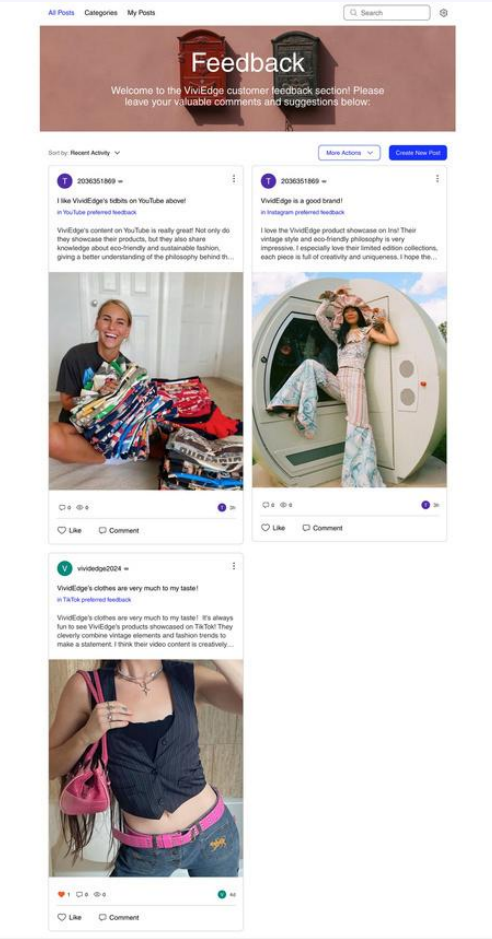

During each new collection sale, a wear feedback competition is held. After purchasing VividEdge clothes, customers can match them and then post a thread. The top three posts in terms of number of likes win prizes (including coupons, vouchers and trinkets).

An example of new American vintage collection (Appendix 1) (By author's own)

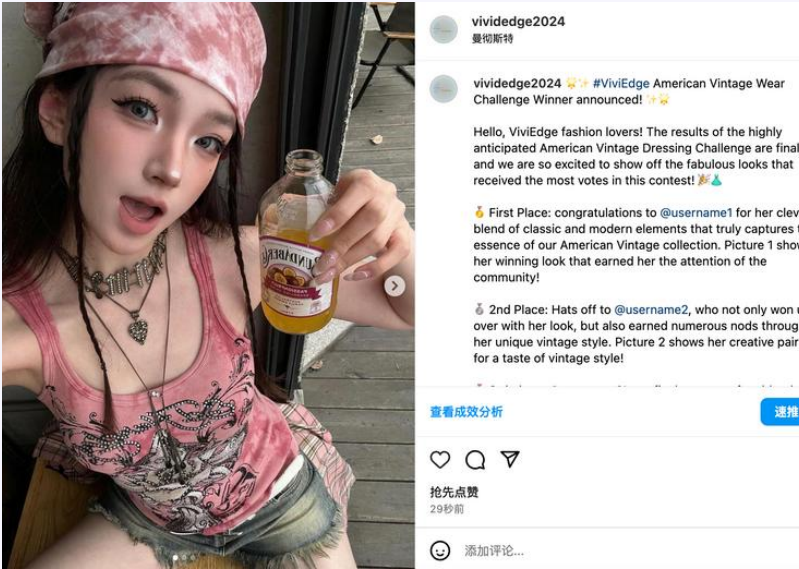

Open and transparent customer testimonials (official website + social media)

Official Website: VividEdge's official website has a feedback section where customers can post their feedback. Consumers can view, comment, and like the customer feedback in the feedback section, thus creating trust in the brand's products.

Social Media: after each wear feedback contest. The brand's officials will publish a post on top of social media with feedback images about the top three winners of the wear feedback competition , thus allowing new customers to trust the brand's products.

3.2 Purchase

3.2.1 Live Streaming

For startup brand Vivid Edge, live shopping allows customers to get the right product information, interact in real time, and increase interest in buying online. (Ahmadi and Hudrasyah, 2022) With an audience reach of nearly 28% of global internet users in Q3 2023, live streaming has become one of the most popular types of online consumption. (Statista, 2024)

Share of internet users worldwide watching live streaming content on a weekly basis from 2nd quarter 2021 to 3rd quarter 2023

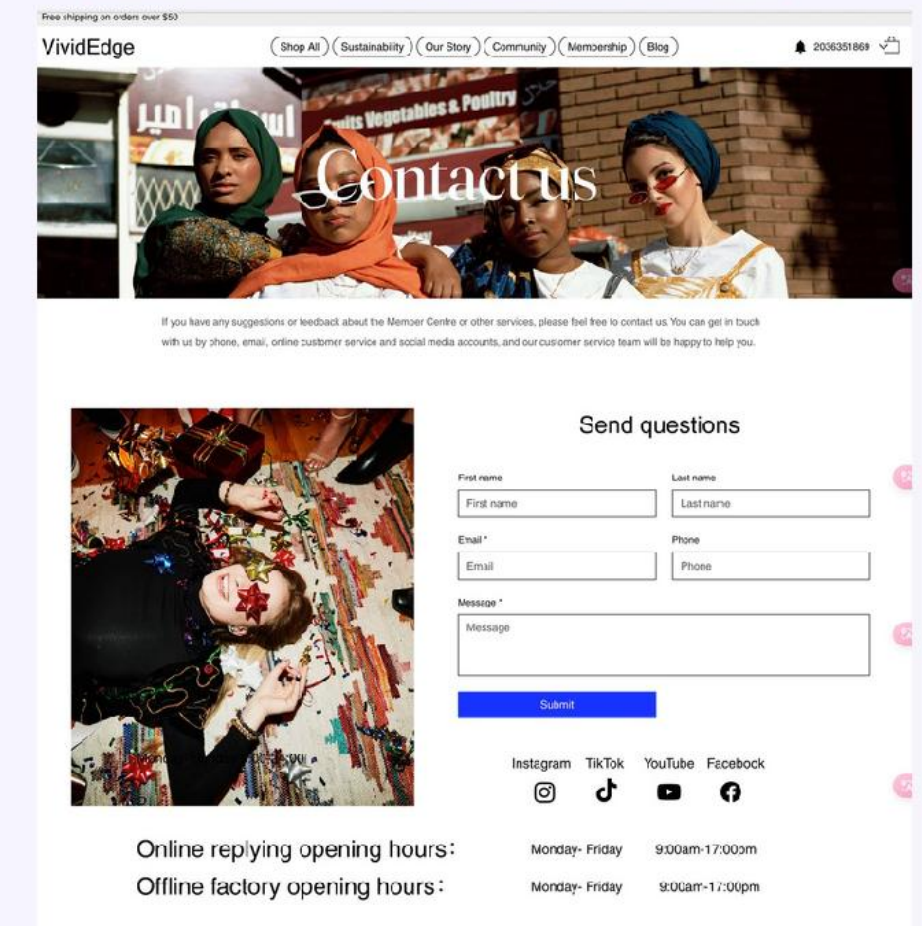

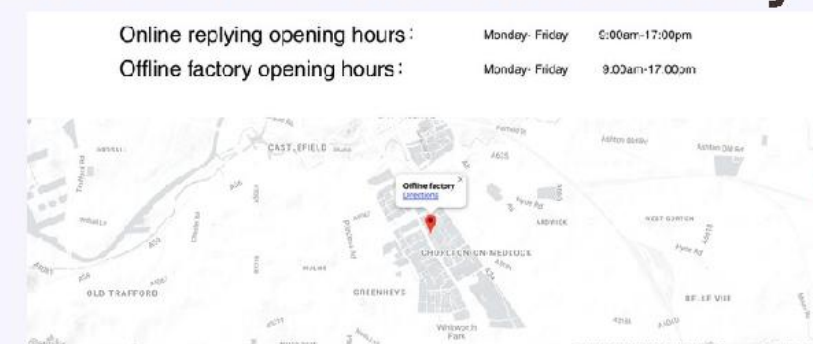

Programme:

Vivid Edge plans to run six live streams per year, each centred around a new product launch. The events will include an introduction of the new products, live fitting demonstrations, detailed new product explanations, explanations of style inspirations and interactive Q&A sessions. During the live broadcasts, the brand will also offer coupons and limited-time discounts to stimulate viewers' purchasing intentions. Such live events not only enhance consumers' urge to buy, but also help to gather instant feedback and provide valuable market insights for VividEdge's continued development.

3.2.2 Optimisation of the official website

VividEdge has a visually appealing and user-friendly official website that offers extensive product descriptions, video demonstrations, user reviews and detailed buying guides. It is also equipped with smart recommendations to help consumers make informed purchasing decisions. There is also an account management system that allows consumers to easily view order status, purchase history, points, and more.

Numerous contact details: customers can be contacted with any questions they may have

3.2.3 Ccontact

IM/Chat: There is a live chat window on Vivid Edge's official website that provides instant response and customers can have a live chat, increasing consumer satisfaction and trust.

3.3 After purchase

3.3.1 Social gathering

VividEdge, as a nascent new brand, utilises the power of social media and community for social aggregation, an approach that can rapidly increase brand awareness and user engagement on a low-cost basis. (Cova and Cova, 2002)

(1) Official website chatting groups

VividEdge has a "Chatting Groups" section on its official website, which provides a special communication platform for users. These groups cover a variety of clothing production techniques, such as "tie-dye", "airbrush", "cutting", "stitching", "crochet", "Crochet" and so on. Users can not only join these existing groups for experience sharing, exchange and discussion, inspiration discussion, etc., but also create new groups according to their own interests, which provides a community environment for remake enthusiasts to share and discuss.

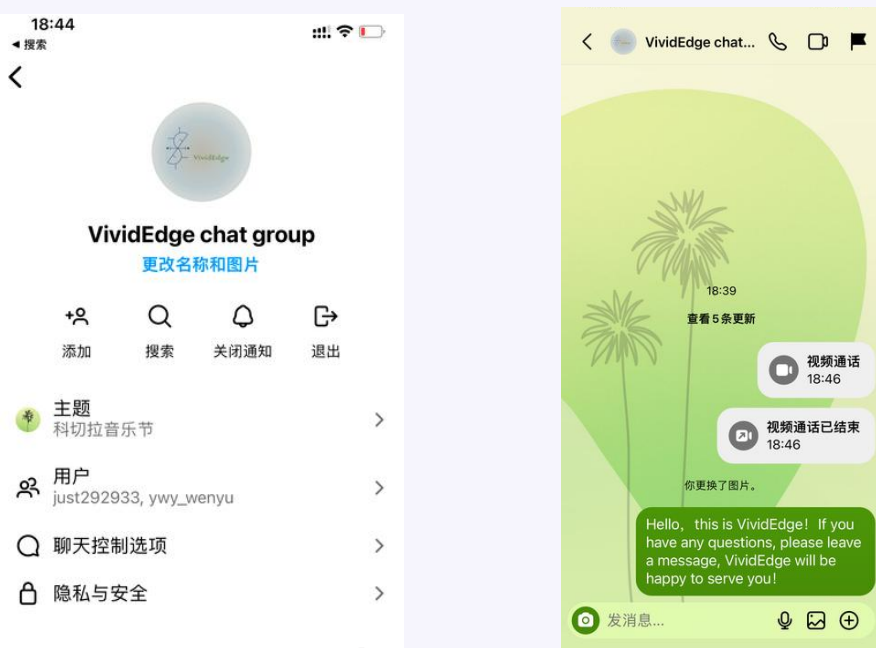

Example of official website chatting groups
(By author's own)

(2) Social Media Groups

VividEdge has created communities on social media (e.g. Instagram) where customers can join communities and engage in wider social interactions. In these communities, users can share DIY tips, sources of inspiration, and personal insights into their Remake projects. These communities have become a gathering place for inspiration sharing and technical discussions, facilitating communication and mutual support among users, enhancing community cohesion, and helping users gain new inspiration and knowledge from other enthusiasts.

Example of the chat group on social media (By author's own)

(3) Offline activities

Offline events can give customers a better experience. VividEdge has an activites section on its website, where the brand will post events and customers can sign up for them. The brand also publishes events on social media to let more people know and participate.

Example of the activities section on website (By author's own)

For example, the fun crochet activity "Earth in your hand":

In the world earth day, organise an offline crochet activity, a total of 10 places, with a staff, first take the applicants to visit the factory, and then in the factory for crochet teaching, the production of content for a globe, after the completion of the participant to the finished product released to social media, the world earth day environmental protection topics for discussion, to increase brand exposure. And the brand also released the crochet tutorial analysis on the official website, driving more environmental protection, like DIY people to pay attention to the brand.

Example of the activities (By author's own)

3.3.2 Loyalty Programme

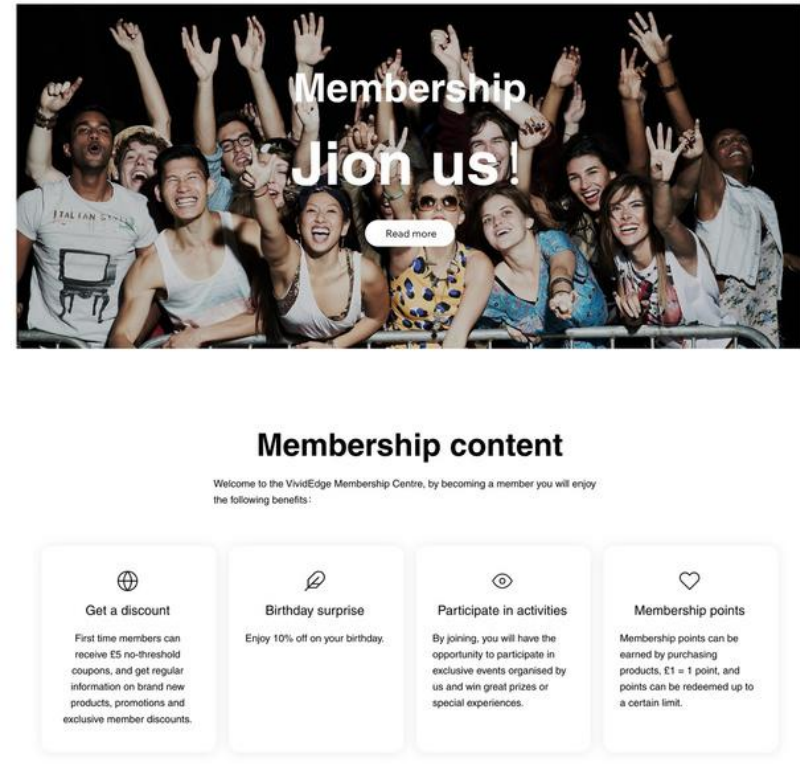

Vivid Edge's member loyalty programme offers a number of benefits to registered members, including a £5 voucher for first time registrations, a 10% discount on birthdays, access to exclusive events and the opportunity to accumulate points through purchases, which can be redeemed for discounts. In addition, members receive 50 bonus points on registration and an extra 50 points on their birthday, designed to boost consumer engagement and brand loyalty.

3.3.3 Blog

VividEdge has a Blog section on its official website, on which it regularly shares wen zhang such as fashion guides, design stories behind its products, sustainable fashion campaigns, and so on, to add depth and appeal to the brand.

3.3.4 Email Marketing

VividEdge keeps in touch with consumers and boosts the repurchase rate through emails that are sent to members on a regular basis, including information on new product launches, special events and promotional alerts.

(2) SEO Budget

SEO Budget=£50/month*12=£600/year

Average SEO Monthly Cost UK	Business Model	What's Included
£50 — £600	One man / woman bands, hyper-local businesses; low competition industries and anyone with a small SEO budget.	Good for basic on-site SEO (optimising your Google Business profile, citation backlinks, etc.) and technical maintenance.A dedicated SEO consultant will keep you on the right course of action, steadily improving on and strengthening your online presence.
£600 — £6,000	Most SMEs will fall into this bracket.	At Add People, we typically work with clients in this bracket. At this level you're looking at a serious and sustained SEO campaign to help established businesses or new businesses grow quickly. This will include all aspects of SEO running concurrently. From general copywriting, to mapping out and executing a blog strategy suited towards your target audience. Alongside an effective PR / linkbuilding campaign designed to strengthen your website's domain, helping you to stay abreast of the competition. Some agencies (but not all) may also have a UX team like we do at Add People, who will work to make your website more attractive to potential customers. You can also expect technical SEO support and even some non-SEO services, such as help with website builds or site migrations.
£6,000+	Enterprise-model businesses; very large corporations, government agencies, educational institutions.	This level of SEO is mostly reserved for the largest companies, usually enterprise-model businesses if they haven't got their own in-house resources already. The bigger the website, and the more customers it handles, the greater the complexity. (Think big fashion brands, government websites, media companies, etc.).

1. Upgrading fashion: how to use vintage elements to create a personalised style?

In the fashion world, vintage style has always been in the spotlight. In this article, we will discuss how to use vintage elements to create a personalised fashion style that will make you unique on the fashion stage.

(1) Choose classic styles

Choose clothing styles that have a classic vintage look, such as jeans, dresses or jackets. These classic styles are not only durable, but also easy to match with other elements to create a variety of styles.

(2) Add vintage accessories

Use vintage accessories such as vintage glasses, vintage watches or vintage bags to add interest and personality to the overall look. The choice of accessories can be matched to your own preferences and style.

(3) Use retro colours

Vintage colours are an important part of vintage style, such as vintage red and vintage blue. You can show the charm of retro style through clothing colour matching or makeup colour.

(4) Clever Matching

Clever matching is key when creating a personalised style. You can try different combinations, such as blending vintage elements with modern style or combining different vintage elements to create a unique fashion effect.

Whether it's for everyday life or special occasions, using vintage elements to create a personalised style will allow you to exude a distinctive charm.

2、 Fashion DIY: The fun and skills of creating personalised clothing

DIY (Do It Yourself) is not only an attitude to life, but also a unique experience in fashion. In this article, we will introduce the fun and skills of fashion DIY and how to use DIY to create a personalised clothing style.

(1) Material Selection and Design

When DIY clothing, first of all, we should choose suitable materials, such as fabrics and decorations. Then you can design the clothes according to your personal preferences and design ideas, either by sketching or looking for inspirational patterns.

(2) Cutting and Piecing

Cutting and splicing are important steps in DIY clothing. The fabric can be cut into the desired shape according to the design and pieced or sewn together to create a unique clothing style.

(3) Decoration and Finishing

After the basic style is completed, you can decorate and paint it, such as adding embroidery, appliqués, airbrushing, etc. to make the garment more personalised and fashionable.

(4) Sharing and Display

After completing the DIY clothes, you can share them with your friends or display them on social platforms to exchange experience and creativity with others, and you can also participate in DIY competitions or activities to showcase your work.

Fashion DIY not only brings fun and satisfaction, but also develops creativity and design skills. Whether you are a beginner or an experienced DIY enthusiast, you can create unique and personalised outfits through DIY and show your fashion taste.

3、 Eco-fashion: How Vividedge went from recycling to a unique fashion experience

With the rise of environmental awareness, more and more people are focusing on eco-fashion. This article will introduce the concept of eco-fashion and how the ViviEdge brand combines recycling with a unique fashion experience.

(1) Recycling

The ViviEdge brand recycles surplus garments and discarded fabrics from the industry and uses stitching, cutting and redesigning techniques to create unique clothing styles. This recycling approach reduces resource waste and creates eco-friendly fashion products.

(2) Sustainable Development

Eco-fashion emphasises sustainable development, i.e. considering environmental and social responsibility in the fashion industry. the ViviEdge brand is committed to promoting the development of sustainable fashion, bringing consumers more eco-friendly choices through innovative design and eco-friendly concepts.

Unique Fashion Experience

(3) The ViviEdge brand not only cares about the environment, but also focuses on a unique fashion experience. Each piece of clothing combines retro, trendy and sustainable elements to provide consumers with a unique fashion experience.

Eco-fashion is not only a concept, but also a way of life. By choosing eco-friendly fashion, you can not only show your personalised dressing style, but also make a positive contribution to the earth's environment.
